JOB SUMMARY

The Principal Full Stack Engineer sets the standard on the programming development of websites; web applications; and emerging platforms for the University - from defining user interface (UI) patterns to front to back-end deployment; and involved in all levels of development during the design process. Creates strategy for User Experience (UX) development processes and guides decisions on technical strategy; architecture; tools and utilities with clients.