JOB SUMMARY

The Principal Information Architect creates and plans executable strategy for the user experience for websites, intranets, and web applications. Devises clear interaction strategies in sync with business and user goals developing navigation and site structure; organizing content; and tirelessly advocating the rights of real people as users. Leads with usability assessments. Also; acts as coach or mentor for Information Architects.