The Web Developer III is responsible for the planning; development; implementation; and support of web-based applications. The Web Developer III is also responsible for coordinating and communicating with clients and managing all aspects of their projects. The Web Developer III will lead junior programmers on projects. Leads development and programming for web-based systems. Leads discovery meetings to ascertain technical aspects of projects and makes recommendations. Works with the director (and/or assistant director) to develop web strategies for the university. Regularly reviews existing we