JOB SUMMARY

Monitors critical research and academic computing systems; applications; infrastructure components; and manages job control systems to ensure job completion and optimum resource utilization. Works with students and faculty to help them properly use the technology. A Senior Systems Operator is expected to have in depth knowledge of job schedulers or control systems and have experience with multiple science; engineering; mathematics; or computational computing applications.