JOB SUMMARY

Contributes to basic and applied research activities and may play a lead role. Performs tasks on their own initiative. May serve as Principal Investigator or co-Principal Investigator or work under the direction of a principal investigator or program director and with minimal supervision. In addition to a firm background in the particular field; demonstrate the ability to assume leadership of small groups and work without additional supervision once objectives are defined and methods of approach are set. May supervise research employees; non-exempt staff; or mentor students.